Cumulative Table of Cases Connecticut Reports Volume 337

(Replaces Prior Cumulative Table)

Asnat Realty, LLC v. United Illuminating Co. (Order) Bayview Loan Servicing, LLC v. Macrae-Gray (Order) Berka v. Middletown (Order) Blondeau v. Baltierra Dissolution of marriage; arbitration; whether final judgment existed for purposes of appellate jurisdiction when arbitration award included issues related to child support in violation of statutory provision (§ 46b-66 (c)) governing agreements to arbitrate in dissolution proceedings; claim that motion to vacate arbitration award was untimely pursuant to statute (§ 52-420 (b)), and that trial court therefore lacked jurisdiction, because it failed to set forth factual basis for vacating award within limitation period specified in § 52-420 (b); claim that trial court lacked jurisdiction to consider arguments in motion to vacate pertaining to child support because plaintiff was not aggrieved by that portion of award and because issue of child support had been rendered moot by parties' pendente lite stipulations; whether trial court incorrectly concluded that arbitrator's award exceeded scope of parties' submission; whether trial court incorrectly concluded that arbitrator manifestly disregarded law by ignoring choice of law provision in premarital agreement and distributing equity in marital home in accordance with Connecticut law; whether party to dissolution matter can waive statutory (§§ 46b-66 (c) and 52-408) prohibition against arbitration of issues related to child support; whether portion of arbitration award ordering payment of certain expenses related to children was severable from remainder of award.	906 905 910 127
expenses related to children was severable from remainder of award. Boccanfuso v. Daghoghi	228
Summary process; doctrine of equitable nonforfeiture; certification from Appellate Court; whether Appellate Court properly affirmed judgment of possession in favor of plaintiff landlords; claim that trial court abused its discretion by rejecting defendant tenants' special defense of equitable nonforfeiture; whether defendants' intentional nonpayment of rent was necessarily wilful for purposes of equitable nonforfeiture doctrine, when rent was not withheld because of good faith intent to comply with lease or good faith dispute over terms of lease. Britton v. Commissioner of Correction (Order)	901
vehicles on public road. Conroy v. Idlibi (Order) Cookish v. Commissioner of Correction Habeas corpus; appeal from habeas court's denial of certification to appeal; claim that habeas court improperly dismissed petition for writ of habeas corpus pursuant to rules of practice (§ 23-29) without first appointing petitioner counsel and providing him with notice and opportunity to be heard; whether habeas court can dismiss petition pursuant to § 23-29 before issuing writ of habeas corpus under rules of practice (§ 23-24); claim that habeas court's judgment should be reversed on basis of plain error; claim that habeas court improperly failed to construe petitioner's habeas petition as petition for writ of error coram nobis.	905 348
Donald G. v. Commissioner of Correction (Order)	907 27

Gershon v. Back (Order) Harvey v. Dept. of Correction Wrongful death; sovereign immunity; statute of limitations; motion to dismiss for lack of subject matter jurisdiction; whether action was time barred pursuant to statute (§ 4-160 (d)) that requires plaintiff who has been granted authorization to sue state by Claims Commissioner to bring action within one year from date that authorization was granted; claim that action was not untimely because one year time limitation in § 4-160 (d) was inoperative and two year time limitation in worongful death statute (§ 52-555 (a)) controlled plaintiff's wrongful death claim. In re Angela V. (Order) In re Jacob M. (Order) In re Kara Liz V. (Order) In re Natsala T. (Order) In re Six of the subject of the sub	not cognizable under Connecticut law; medical monitoring, discussed; whether plaintiffs had established genuine issue of material fact as to whether medical monitoring was reasonably necessary for each individual plaintiff.
Harvey v. Dept. of Correction Wrongful death; sovereign immunity; statute of limitations; motion to dismiss for lack of subject matter jurisdiction; whether action was time berryed pursuant to statute (§ 4-160 (d)) that requires plaintiff who has been granted authorization to sue state by Claims Commissioner to bring action within one year from date that authorization was granted; claim that action was not untimely because one year time limitation in § 4-160 (d) was inoperative and two year time limitation in vorongful death statute (§ 52-555 (a)) controlled plaintiff's wrongful death claim. In re Angela V. (Order). In re Alach M. (Order) In re Natasha T. (Order) In re Natasha T. (Order) In re Natasha T. (Order) Lance W. v. Commissioner of Correction (Order). Ash Street, LLC v. Main Street America Assurance Co. Action seeking to recover proceeds allegedly due under commercial general liability insurance policy issued by defendant insurer; summary judgment; whether defendant had duty to defend in action brought by plaintiff against insured and alleging property damage resulting from collapse of house that had been lifted off foundation; whether trial court improperty granted defendant's motion for summary judgment, whether there existed possibility that plaintiff's complaint in action against insured alleged liability for property damage that was not excluded under insurance policy; whether trial court incorrectly determined that certain exclusions in insurance policy; whether trial court incorrectly determined that certain exclusions in insurance policy relieved defendant of its duty to defend. Property Tax Management, LLC v. Worldwide Properties, LLC (Order). Redding v. Georgetown Land Development Co., LLC. Strict foreclosure; summary judgment, whether trial court incorrectly determined that under 2007 public act (P.A. 07-196, § 4 (b) (3)), liens that defendant company had acquired from special taxing district were subordinate to those of plaintiff town and fire district. Rice v. Commissioner of C		901
Wrongful death, sovereign immunity; statute of limitations; motion to dismiss for lack of subject matter purisation to statute (§ 4-160 (d)) that requires plaintiff who has been granted authorization to sue state by Claims Commissioner to bring action within one year from date that authorization was granted; claim that action was not untimely because one year time limitation in § 4-160 (d) was inoperative and two year time limitation in § 4-160 (d) was inoperative and two year time limitation in R 4-160 (d) was inoperative and two year time limitation in re Angela V. (Order) In re Angela V. (Order) In re Jacob M. (Order) In re Kiara Liz V. (Order) In re Kiara Liz V. (Order) In re Kiara Liz V. (Order) In re Natasha T. (Order) In re Natasha T. (Order) In re Natasha T. (Order) In re Siara Liz V. (Order) In re Nash v. Commissioner of Correction (Order) Nash Street, LLC v. Main Street America Assurance Co. Action seeking to recover proceeds allegedly due under commercial general liability insurance policy issued by defendant insurer; summary judgment; whether defendant had duty to defend in action brought by plaintiff against insured and alleging property damage resulting from collapse of house that had been lifted off foundation; whether trial court improperty granted defendant's motion for summary judgment, whether there existed possibility that plaintiff's complaint in action against insurance policy; whether trial court increvely determined that exclusions in insurance policy relieved defendant of its duty to defend. Ortix v. Torres-Rodriguez (Order). Strict forcelosure; summary judgment; whether trial court correctly concluded that, under 2007 public act (P.A. 07-196, § 4 (b) (3)), liens that defendant company had acquired from special taxing district were subordinate to those of plaintiff town and fire district. Rice v. Commissioner of Correction (Order) Rodriguez v. Kniaffa, LLC. Class action; motion for class certification, interlocutory appeal pursuant to statule (§ 52-265a) involving matte		291 lack of subject matter jurisdiction; whether action was time barred pursuant to statute (§ 4-160 (d)) that requires plaintiff who has been granted authorization to sue state by Claims Commissioner to bring action within one year from date that authorization was granted; claim that action was not untimely because one year time limitation in § 4-160 (d) was inoperative and two year time limitation in wrongful death statute (§ 52-555 (a)) controlled plaintiff's wrongful death claim. In re Angela V. (Order). In re Angela V. (Order). In re Atasha T. (Order) In re Kiara Liz V. (Order). In re Natasha T. (Order) Lance W. v. Commissioner of Correction (Order). Asals Street, LLC v. Main Street America Assurance Co. Action seeking to recover proceeds allegedly due under commercial general liability insurance policy issued by defendant insurer; summary judgment; whether defendant had duty to defend in action brought by plaintiff against insured and alleging property damage resulting from collapse of house that had been lifted off foundation; whether trial court improperty granted defendants's motion for summary judgment; whether there existed possibility that plaintiff's complaint in action against insured allegied liability for property damage that was not excluded under insurance policy; whether trial court incorrectly determined that certain exclusions in insurence policy; whether trial court incorrectly determined that certain exclusions in insurance policy; whether trial court incorrectly determined that certain exclusions in insurance policy; whether trial court orrectly concluded that, under 2007 public act (P.A. Or-196, § 4 (b) (3)), tiens that defendant company had acquired from special taxing district were subordinate to those of plaintiff town and fire district. Redding v. Georgetown Land Development Co., LLC. Strict foreclosure; summary judgment; whether trial court correctly concluded that, under 2007 public act (P.A. Or-196, § 4 (b) (3)), tiens that defendant company had acquired from special taxing to sue state by Claims Commissioner to bring action within one year from date that authorization was granted; claim that action was not untimely because one year time limitation in § 4-160 (d) was inoperative and two year time limitation in wrongful death statute (§ 52-555 (a)) controlled plaintiff's wrongful death claim. In re Angela V. (Order). In re Angela V. (Order). In re Natasha T. (Order) In re Natasha T. (Order) In re Natasha T. (Order) Lance W. v. Commissioner of Correction (Order). Nash v. Commissioner of Correction (Order). Nash Street, LLC v. Main Street America Assurance Co. Action seeking to recover proceeds allegedly due under commercial general tiability insurance policy issued by defendant insurer; summary judgment; whether defendant had duty to defend in action brought by plaintiff against insured and alleging property damage resulting from collapse of house that had been lifted aff foundation, whether trial court improperty granted defendant's motion for summary judgment; whether there existed possibility that plaintiff scomplaint in action against insured alleged liability for property damage that was not excluded under insurance policy; whether trial court incorrectly determined that certain exclusions in insurance policy; whether trial court incorrectly determined that certain exclusions in insurance policy relieved defendant of its duty to defend. Ortiz v. Torres-Rodriguez (Order). Property Tax Management, LLC v. Worldwide Properties, LLC (Order). Redding v. Georgetown Land Development Co., LLC. Strict foreclosure; summary judgment; whether trial court correctly concluded that, under 2007 public act (P.A. Or. 7196, § 4 (b) (3)), liens that defendant company had acquired from special taxing district were subordinate to those of plaintiff town and fire district. Rice v. Commissioner of Correction (Order). Rodriguez v. Kaiaffa, LLC. Class action, motion for class certification, interlocutory appeal pursuant to statute (§ 52-265a) involving matter of substantial public interes that authorization was granted; claim that action was not untimely because one year time limitation in § 4-160 (d) was inoperative and two year time limitation in wrongful death statute (§ 52-555 (a)) controlled plaintiffs wrongful death claim. In re Angela V. (Order) In re Jacob M. (Order) In re Kara Liz V. (Order). In re Natasha T. (Order) I	statute (§ 4-160 (d)) that requires plaintiff who has been granted authorization year time limitation in § 4-160 (d) was inoperative and two year time limitation in wrongful death statute (§ 52-555 (a)) controlled plaintiff's wrongful death claim. In re Angela V. (Order). In re Rangela V. (Order). In re Natasha T. (Order) Lance W. v. Commissioner of Correction (Order). Nash v. Commissioner of Correction (Order). Nash Street LLC v. Main Street America Assurance Co. Action seeking to recover proceeds allegedly due under commercial general tiability insurance policy issued by defendant insuver; summary judgment; whether defendant had duty to defend in action brought by plaintiff against insured and alleging property damage resulting from collapse of house that had been lifted aff foundation, whether trial court improperty granted defendant's motion for summary judgment; whether there existed possibility that plaintiff scomplaint in action against insured eldeged liability for property damage that was not excluded under insurance policy; whether trial court incorrectly determined that certain exclusions in insurance policy relieved defendant of its duty to defend. Ortiz v. Torres-Rodriguez (Order). Property Tax Management, LLC v. Worldwide Properties, LLC (Order). Redding v. Georgetown Land Development Co., LLC. Strict foreclosure; summary judgment; whether trial court correctly concluded that, under 2007 public act (P.A. 07-196, § 4 (b) (3)), liens that defendant company had acquired from special taxing district were subordinate to those of plaintiff town and fire district. Rice v. Commissioner of Correction (Order). Rodriguez v. Kaiaffa, LLC. Class action, motion for class certification, interlocutory appeal pursuant to statute (§ 52-265a) involving matter of substantial public interest; standards that govern trial court's class action secretification decision, discussed, whether trial court should have inquired into merits of plaintiff's legal theory in determining whether prerequisites to class action decision, discussed, whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding in wrongful death statute (§ 52-555 (a)) controlled plaintiff's wrongful death claim. In re Angela V. (Order). In re Jacob M. (Order). In re Kara Liz V. (Order). In re Natasha T. (Order). In re Natasha T. (Order). Nash v. Commissioner of Correction (Order). Nash v. Commissioner of Correction (Order). Nash Street, LiC v. Main Street America Assurance Co Action seeking to recover proceeds allegedly due under commercial general tiability insurance policy issued by defendant insurer; summary judgment; whether defendant had duty to defend in action brought by plaintiff against insured and alleging property damage resulting from collapse of house that had been lifted off foundation; whether trial court improperty granted defendant's motion for summary judgment; whether there existed possibility that plaintiff's complaint in action against insured alleged liability for property damage that was not excluded under insurance policy; whether trial court incorrectly determined that certain exclusions in insurance policy relieved defendant of its duty to defend. Ortiz v. Torres-Rodriguez (Order). Property Tax Management, LLC v. Worldwide Properties, LLC (Order). Redding v. Georgetown Land Development Co., LLC. Strict foreclosure; summary judgment; whether trial court correctly concluded that, under 2007 public act (P.A. 07-196, § 4 (b) (3)), liens that defendant company had acquired from special taxing district were subordinate to those of plaintiff town and fire district. Rice v. Commissioner of Correction (Order). Rodriguez v. Kaiaffa, LLC. Class action, motion for class certification, interlocutory appeal pursuant to statute (§ 52-265a) involving matter of substantial public interest; standards that govern trial court's class certification decision, discussed; whether trial court should have inquired into merits of plaintiff's legal theory in determining whether prerequisites to class action set forth in applicable rules of practice (§§ 52-265a) involving matter of substantial public interest; standards claim. In re Angela V. (Order). In re Jacob M. (Order). In re Natash T. (Order). In re Natash T. (Order). In re Natash T. (Order). Lance W. v. Commissioner of Correction (Order). Nash Street, LLC v. Main Street America Assurance Co. Action seeking to recover proceeds allegedly due under commercial general tiability insurance policy issued by defendant insurer; summary judgment; whether defendant had duty to defend in action brought by plaintiff against insured and alleging property damage resulting from collapse of house that had been lifted off foundation; whether trial court improperty granted defendant's motion for summary judgment; whether there existed possibility that plaintiff scomplaint in action against insured alleged liability for property damage that was not excluded under insurance policy; whether trial court incorrectly determined that certain exclusions in insurance policy; whether trial court incorrectly determined that certain exclusions in insurance policy elieved defendant of its duty to defend. Ortiz v. Torres-Rodriguez (Order). Property Tax Management, LLC v. Worldwide Properties, LLC (Order). Redding v. Georgetown Land Development Co., LLC. Strict foreclosure; summary judgment; whether trial court correctly concluded that, under 2007 public act (P.A. Or. 190, § 46 (b) (3)), liens that defendant company had acquired from special taxing district were subordinate to those of plaintiff town and fire district. Rice v. Commissioner of Correction (Order). Robinson v. Commissioner of Correction (Order). Robinson v. Commissioner of Correction (Order). Robinson v. Kaiaffa, LLC. Class action; motion for class certification, interlocutory appeal pursuant to statute (§ 52-265a) involving matter of substantial public interest; standards that govern trial court's class action secretification decision, discussed, whether trial court should have inquired into merits of plaintiff's legal theory in determining whether prerequisites to class actions efforth in applicable rules of practice (§§ 9-7 and 9-8) w
In re Jacob M. (Order) In re Kiara Liz V. (Order) In re Kiara Liz V. (Order) In re Katasha T. (Order) In re Natasha T. (Order) In the N
In re Alarob M. (Order). In re Riara Liz V. (Order). In re Natasha T. (Order). Nash v. Commissioner of Correction (Order). Nash Street, LLC v. Main Street America Assurance Co. Action seeking to recover proceeds allegedly due under commercial general liability insurance policy issued by defendant insurer; summary judgment; whether defendant had duty to defend in action brought by plaintiff against insured and alleging property damage resulting from collapse of house that had ben lifted off foundation; whether trial court improperty granted defendants motion for summary judgment; whether there existed possibility that plaintiff's complaint in action against insured alleged liability for property damage that was not excluded under insurance policy; whether trial court incorrectly determined that certain exclusions in insured relieved defendant of its duty to defend. Ortiz v. Torres-Rodriguez (Order). Property Tax Management, LLC v. Worldwide Properties, LLC (Order). Redding v. Georgetown Land Development Co., LLC. Strict foreclosure; summary judgment; whether trial court correctly concluded that, under 2007 public act (PA. 07-196, § 4 (b) (3)), liens that defendant company had acquired from special taxing district were subordinate to those of plaintiff town and fire district. Rice v. Commissioner of Correction (Order) Rodriguez v. Kaiaffa, LLC. Class action; motion for class certification; interlocutory appeal pursuant to statute (§ 52-265a) involving matter of substantial public interest; standards that govern trial court's class certification decision, discussed; whether trial court should have inquired into merits of plaintiff's legal theory in determining whether prerequisites to class action set forth in applicable rules of practice (§ 89-7 and 9-8) were satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that common issues of law and fact predominated and that class action was superior to other method
In re Kiara Liz V. (Order). Lance W. v. Commissioner of Correction (Order). Nash Street, LLC v. Main Street America Assurance Co Action seeking to recover proceeds allegedly due under commercial general liability insurance policy issued by defendant insurer; summary judgment; whether defendant had duty to defend in action brought by plaintiff against insured and alleging property damage resulting from collapse of house that had been lifted off foundation; whether trial court improperty granted defendant's motion for summary judgment; whether there existed possibility that plaintiff's complaint in action against insured alleged liability for property damage that was not excluded under insurance policy; whether trial court incorrectly determined that certain exclusions in insurance policy relieved defendant of its duty to defend. Ortiz v. Torres-Rodriguez (Order). Property Tax Management, LLC v. Worldwide Properties, LLC (Order). Redding v. Georgetown Land Development Co., LLC. Strict foreclosure; summary judgment; whether trial court correctly concluded that, under 2007 public act (P.A. 07-196, § 4 (b) (3)), liens that defendant company had acquired from special taxing district were subordinate to those of plaintiff town and fire district. Rice v. Commissioner of Correction (Order). Rodriguez v. Kaiaffa, LLC. Class action; motion for class certification; interlocutory appeal pursuant to statute (§ 52-265a) involving matter of substantial public interest; standards that govern trial court's class certification decision, discussed; whether trial court should have inquired into merits of plaintiff's legal theory in determining whether prerequisites to class action set forth in applicable rules of practice (§ 9-7 and 9-8) were satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that commonality, typicality, and adequacy of representation requirements for class certification had been satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that commonality typicality, and adequacy	re Angela V. (Order)	907
In re Natasha T. (Örder) Lance W. v. Commissioner of Correction (Order) Nash v. Commissioner of Correction (Order) Nash Street, LLC v. Main Street America Assurance Co. Action seeking to recover proceeds allegedly due under commercial general liability insurance policy issued by defendant insurer; summary judgment; whether defendant had duty to defend in action brought by plaintiff against insured and alleging property damage resulting from collapse of house that had been lifted off foundation; whether trial court improperty granted defendant's motion for summary judgment; whether there existed possibility that plaintiff's complaint in action against insured alleged liability for property damage that was not excluded under insurance policy; whether trial court incorrectly determined that certain exclusions in insurance policy; whether trial court incorrectly determined that certain exclusions in insurance policy; velieved defendant of its duty to defend. Ortiz v. Torres-Rodriguez (Order) Property Tax Management, LLC v. Worldwide Properties, LLC (Order) Redding v. Georgetown Land Development Co., LLC. Strict foreclosure; summary judgment; whether trial court correctly concluded that, under 2007 public act (P.A. 07-196, $ 4 (b) (3)), liens that defendant company had acquired from special taxing district were subordinate to those of plaintiff town and fire district. Rice v. Commissioner of Correction (Order) Robinson v. Commissioner of Correction (Order) Robinson v. Kaiaffa, LLC. Class action; motion for class certification; interlocutory appeal pursuant to statute ($ 52-265a) involving matter of substantial public interest; standards that govern rival court's class certification decision, discussed; whether trial court should have inquired into merits of plaintiff's legal theory in determining whether prerequisites to class action set forth in applicable rules of practice (§§ 9-7 and 9-8) were satisfied; whether trial court abused it siliseretion in concluding that common issues of law and fact predom		909
Lance W. v. Commissioner of Correction (Order). Nash Street, LLC v. Main Street America Assurance Co Action seeking to recover proceeds allegedly due under commercial general liability insurance policy issued by defendant insurer; summary judgment; whether defendant had duty to defend in action brought by plaintiff against insured and alleging property damage resulting from collapse of house that had been lifted off foundation; whether trial court improperly granted defendant's motion for summary judgment; whether there existed possibility that plaintiff's complaint in action against insured alleged liability for property damage that was not excluded under insurance policy; whether trial court incorrectly determined that certain exclusions in insurance policy relieved defendant of its duty to defend. Ortiz v. Torres-Rodriguez (Order). Redding v. Georgetown Land Development Co., LLC. Strict foreclosure; summary judgment; whether trial court correctly concluded that, under 2007 public act (P.A. 07-196, § 4 (b) (3)), liens that defendant company had acquired from special taxing district were subordinate to those of plaintiff town and fire district. Rice v. Commissioner of Correction (Order) Robinson v. Commissioner of Correction (Order) Robinson v. Commissioner of Correction (Order) Rodriguez v. Kaiaffa, LLC. Class action; motion for class certification; interlocutory appeal pursuant to statute (§ 52-265a) involving matter of substantial public interest; standards that govern trial court's class certification decision, discussed; whether trial court should have inquired into merits of plaintiff's legal theory in determining whether prerequisites to class action set forth in applicable rules of practice (§ 9-7 and 9-8) were satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that common issues of law and fact predominated and that class action was superior to other methods of adjudication; claim that trial court improperly defined class. Solon v. Slater (Order) State v. Best Murder; attempt to c		904
Nash Street, LLC v. Main Street America Assurance Co Action seeking to recover proceeds altegedly due under commercial general liability insurance policy issued by defendant insurer; summary judgment; whether defendant had duty to defend in action brought by plaintiff against insured and alleging property damage resulting from collapse of house that had been lifted off foundation; whether trival court improperly granted defendant's motion for summary judgment; whether there existed possibility that plaintiff's complaint in action against insured alleged liability for property damage that was not excluded under insurance policy; whether trial court incorrectly determined that certain exclusions in insurance policy relieved defendant of its duty to defend. Ortiz v. Torres-Rodriguez (Order). Property Tax Management, LLC v. Worldwide Properties, LLC (Order). Redding v. Georgetown Land Development Co., LLC. Strict foreclosure; summary judgment; whether trial court correctly concluded that, under 2007 public act (PA. 07-196, §4 (b) (3)), liens that defendant company had acquired from special taxing district were subordinate to those of plaintiff town and fire district. Rice v. Commissioner of Correction (Order) Rodriguez v. Kaiaffa, LLC. Class action; motion for class certification; interlocutory appeal pursuant to statute (§ 52-265a) involving matter of substantial public interest; standards that govern trial court's class certification decision, discussed, whether trial court should have inquired into merits of plaintiff's legal theory in determining whether prerequisities to class action set forth in applicable rules of practice (§ 8-9 and 9-8) were satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that common issues of law and fact predominated and that class action was superior to other methods of adjudication; claim that trial court improperly defined class. Solon v. Slater (Order) State v. Cestella (Order) State v. Cocy M. Violation of standing criminal protective order; threaten		909
Nash Street, LLC v. Main Street America Assurance Co. Action seeking to recover proceeds allegedly due under commercial general liability insurance policy issued by defendant insurer; summary judgment; whether defendant had duty to defend in action brought by plaintiff against insured and alleging property damage resulting from collapse of house that had been lifted off foundation; whether trial court improperly granted defendant's motion for summary judgment; whether there existed possibility that plaintiff's complaint in action against insurance alleged liability for property damage that was not excluded under insurance policy; whether trial court incorrectly determined that certain exclusions in insurance policy relieved defendant of its duty to defend. Ortiz v. Torres-Rodriguez (Order). Property Tax Management, LLC v. Worldwide Properties, LLC (Order). Redding v. Georgetown Land Development Co., LC. Strict foreclosure; summary judgment; whether trial court correctly concluded that, under 2007 public act (P.A. 07-196, § 4 (b) (3)), liens that defendant company had acquired from special taxing district were subordinate to those of plaintiff town and fire district. Rice v. Commissioner of Correction (Order). Robinson v. Commissioner of Correction (Order). Robinson v. Commissioner of Correction (Order). Robinson v. Staiaffa, LLC. Class action; motion for class certification; interlocutory appeal pursuant to statute (§ 52-265a) involving matter of substantial public interest; standards that govern trial court's class certification decision, discussed; whether trial court should have inquired into merits of plaintiff's legal theory in determining whether prerequisites to class action set forth in applicable rules of practice (§ 8)-7 and 9-8) were satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that common ality, typicality, and adequacy of representation requirements for class certification had been satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in admitting into evidence certai		902
Action seeking to recover proceeds allegedly due under commercial general liability insurance policy issued by defendant insurer; summary judgment; whether defendant had duty to defend in action brought by plaintiff against insured and alleging property damage resulting from collapse of house that had been lifted off foundation; whether trial court improperly granted defendant's motion for summary judgment; whether there existed possibility that plaintiff's complaint in action against insured alleged liability for property damage that was not excluded under insurance policy; whether trial court incorrectly determined that certain exclusions in insurance policy relieved defendant of its duty to defend. Ortiz v. Torres-Rodriguez (Order) Property Tax Management, LLC v. Worldwide Properties, LLC (Order) Redding v. Georgetown Land Development Co., LLC. Strict foreclosure; summary judgment; whether trial court correctly concluded that, under 2007 public act (P.A. 07-196, § 4 (b) (3)), liens that defendant company had acquired from special taxing district were subordinate to those of plaintiff town and fire district. Rice v. Commissioner of Correction (Order) Rodriguez v. Kaiaffa, LLC. Class action; motion for class certification; interlocutory appeal pursuant to statute (§ 52-265a) involving matter of substantial public interest; standards that govern trial court's class certification decision, discussed; whether trial court should have inquired into merits of plaintiff's legal theory in determining whether prerequisites to class action set forth in applicable rules of practice (§ 9-7 and 9-8) were satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that common listy, typicality, and adequacy of representation requirements for class certification had been satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in demitting into evidence certain photographs depicting bloody interior of car used by victims to flee shooting, whether photographs depicting bloody interior of car used by victims to flee		908 insurance policy issued by defendant insurer; summary judgment; whether defendant had duty to defend in action brought by plaintiff against insured and alleging property damage resulting from collapse of house that had been lifted off foundation; whether trial court improperty granted defendant's motion for summary judgment; whether there existed possibility that plaintiff's complaint in action against insured alleged liability for property damage that was not excluded under insurance policy; whether trial court incorrectly determined that certain exclusions in insurance policy; velieved defendant of its duty to defend. Ortiz v. Torres Rodriguez (Order). Property Tax Management, LLC v. Worldwide Properties, LLC (Order). Redding v. Georgetown Land Development Co, LLC. Strict foreclosure; summary judgment; whether trial court correctly concluded that, under 2007 public act (P.A. 07-196, § 4 (b) (3)), liens that defendant company had acquired from special taxing district were subordinate to those of plaintiff town and fire district. Rice v. Commissioner of Correction (Order) Rodriguez v. Kaiaffa, LLC. Class action; motion for class certification; interlocutory appeal pursuant to statute (§ 52-265a) involving matter of substantial public interest; standards that govern trial court's class certification decision, discussed; whether trial court should have inquired into merits of plaintiff's legal theory in determining whether prerequisites to class action set forth in applicable rules of practice (§§ 9-7 and 9-8) were satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that commonality, typicality, and adequacy of representation requirements for class certification had been satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that common issues of law and fact predominated and that class action was superior to other methods of adjudication; claim that trial court improperty defined class. Solon v. Slater (Order) State v. Cecarella (Order) State v. Cecarella (Order).		1 defendant had duty to defend in action brought by plaintiff against insured and alleging property damage resulting from collapse of house that had been lifted off foundation; whether trial court improperty granted defendant's motion for summary judgment; whether there existed possibility that plaintiff's complaint in action against insured alleged liability for property damage that was not excluded under insurance policy; whether trial court incorrectly determined that certain exclusions in insurance policy relieved defendant of its duty to defend. Ortiz v. Torres-Rodriguez (Order) Property Tax Management, LLC v. Worldwide Properties, LLC (Order) Redding v. Georgetown Land Development Co., LLC. Strict foreclosure; summary judgment; whether trial court correctly concluded that, under 2007 public act (P.A. 07-196, § 4 (b) (3)), liens that defendant company had acquired from special taxing district were subordinate to those of plaintiff town and fire district. Rice v. Commissioner of Correction (Order) Rodriguez v. Kaiaffa, LLC. Class action; motion for class certification; interlocutory appeal pursuant to statute (§ 52-265a) involving matter of substantial public interest; standards that govern trial court's class certification decision, discussed, whether trial court should have inquired into merits of plaintiff's legal theory in determining whether prerequisites to class action set forth in applicable rules of practice (§§ 9-7 and 9-8) were satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that common listy, typicality, and adequacy of representation requirements for class certification had been satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that common issues of law and fact predominated and that class action was superior to other methods of adjudication; claim that trial court improperty defined class. Solon v. Slater (Order) State v. Chester J. (Order) alleging property damage resulting from collapse of house that had been lifted off foundation; whether trial court improperty granted defendant's motion for summary judgment; whether there existed possibility that plaintiff's complaint in action against insured alleged liability for property damage that was not excluded under insurance policy; whether trial court incorrectly determined that certain exclusions in insurance policy; whether trial court incorrectly determined that certain exclusions in insurance policy; whether trial court incorrectly determined that certain exclusions in insurance policy; whether trial court incorrectly determined that certain exclusions in insurance policy; whether trial court incorrectly determined that certain exclusions. ILC v. Worldwide Properties, LLC (Order). Redding v. Georgetown Land Development Co., LLC. Strict foreclosure; summary judgment; whether trial court correctly concluded that, under 2007 public act (P.A. 07-196, § 4 (b) (3)), liens that defendant company had acquired from special taxing district were subordinate to those of plaintiff town and fire district. Rice v. Commissioner of Correction (Order) Robinson v. Commissioner of Correction (Order) Rodriguez v. Kaiaffa, LLC. Class action; motion for class certification; interlocutory appeal pursuant to statute (§ 52-265a) involving matter of substantial public interest; standards that govern trial court's class certification decision, discussed; whether trial court should have inquired into merits of plaintiff's legal theory in determining whether prerequisites to class action set forth in applicable rules of practice (§§ 9-7 and 9-8) were satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that common listy, typicality, and adequacy of representation requirements for class certification had been satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in damitting into evidence certain photographs depicting bloody interior of car used by victims to flee shooting; whether probative value of photog off foundation; whether trial court improperly granted defendant's motion for summary judgment; whether there existed possibility that plaintiff's complaint in action against insured alleged liability for properly damage that was not excluded under insurance policy; whether trial court incorrectly determined that certain exclusions in insurance policy relieved defendant of its duty to defend. Ortiz v. Torres-Rodriguez (Order). Property Tax Management, LLC v. Worldwide Properties, LLC (Order). Redding v. Georgetown Land Development Co., LLC. Strict foreclosure; summary judgment; whether trial court correctly concluded that, under 2007 public act (P.A. 07-196, § 4 (b) (3)), liens that defendant company had acquired from special taxing district were subordinate to those of plaintiff town and fire district. Rice v. Commissioner of Correction (Order) Robinson v. Commissioner of Correction (Order) Robriguez v. Kaiaffa, LLC. Class action; motion for class certification; interlocutory appeal pursuant to statute (§ 52-265a) involving matter of substantial public interest; standards that govern trial court's class certification decision, discussed; whether trial court should have inquired into merits of plaintiff's legal theory in determining whether prerequisites to class action set forth in applicable rules of practice (§§ 9-7 and 9-8) were satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that commonality, typicality, and adequacy of representation requirements for class certification had been satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that common sissue of law and fact predominated and that class action was superior to other methods of adjudication; claim that trial court improperly defined class. Solon v. Slater (Order) State v. Chester J. (Order)
summary judgment; whether there existed possibility that plaintiff's complaint in action against insured alleged tiability for property damage that was not excluded under insurance policy; whether trial court incorrectly determined that certain exclusions in insurance policy relieved defendant of its duty to defend. Ortiz v. Torres-Rodriguez (Order). Property Tax Management, LLC v. Worldwide Properties, LLC (Order). Redding v. Georgetown Land Development Co., LLC. Strict foreclosure; summary judgment; whether trial court correctly concluded that, under 2007 public act (P.A. 07-196, § 4 (b) (3)), liens that defendant company had acquired from special taxing district were subordinate to those of plaintiff town and fire district. Rice v. Commissioner of Correction (Order) Rodriguez v. Kaiaffa, LLC. Class action; motion for class certification; interlocutory appeal pursuant to statute (§ 52-265a) involving matter of substantial public interest; standards that govern trial court's class certification decision, discussed; whether trial court should have inquired into merits of plaintiff's legal theory in determining whether prerequisites to class action set forth in applicable rules of practice (§ 9-7 and 9-8) were satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that commonality, typicality, and adequacy of representation requirements for class certification had been satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that common issues of law and fact predominated and that class action was superior to other methods of adjudication; claim that trial court improperly defined class. Solon v. Slater (Order) State v. Best Murder; attempt to commit murder; assault first degree; claim that trial court abused its discretion in admitting into evidence certain photographs were relevant to crimes with which defendant was charged; whether probative value of photographs outweighed their prejudicial effect. State v. Cicarella (Order) State v. Cody M. Violation of standing criminal pr in action against insured alleged liability for property damage that was not excluded under insurance policy; whether trial court incorrectly determined that certain exclusions in insurance policy relieved defendant of its duty to defend. Ortiz v. Torres-Rodriguez (Order) Property Tax Management, LLC v. Worldwide Properties, LLC (Order) Redding v. Georgetown Land Development Co., LLC Strict foreclosure; summary judgment; whether trial court correctly concluded that, under 2007 public act (P.A. 07-196, § 4 (b) (3)), liens that defendant company had acquired from special taxing district were subordinate to those of plaintiff town and fire district. Rice v. Commissioner of Correction (Order) Robinson v. Commissioner of Correction (Order) Rodriguez v. Kaiaffa, LLC Class action; motion for class certification; interlocutory appeal pursuant to statute (§ 52-265a) involving matter of substantial public interest; standards that govern trial court's class certification decision, discussed, whether trial court should have inquired into merits of plaintiff's legal theory in determining whether prerequisites to class action set forth in applicable rules of practice (§§ 9-7 and 9-8) were satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that commonality, typicality, and adequacy of representation requirements for class certification had been satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that common issues of law and fact predominated and that class action was superior to other methods of adjudication; claim that trial court improperty defined class. Solon v. Slater (Order) State v. Best Murder; attempt to commit murder; assault first degree; claim that trial court abused its discretion in admitting into evidence certain photographs were relevant to crimes with which defendant was charged; whether probative value of photographs outverighed their prejudicial effect. State v. Cody M. Violation of standing criminal protective order; threatening second degree; double jeopardy; c excluded under insurance policy; whether trial court incorrectly determined that certain exclusions in insurance policy relieved defendant of its duty to defend. Ortiz v. Torres-Rodriguez (Order). Property Tax Management, LLC v. Worldwide Properties, LLC (Order) Redding v. Georgetown Land Development Co., LLC. Strict foreclosure; summary judgment; whether trial court correctly concluded that, under 2007 public act (P.A. 07-196, § 4 (b) (3)), liens that defendant company had acquired from special taxing district were subordinate to those of plaintiff town and fire district. Rice v. Commissioner of Correction (Order) Robinson v. Commissioner of Correction (Order) Rodriguez v. Kaiaffa, LLC. Class action; motion for class certification; interlocutory appeal pursuant to statute (§ 52-265a) involving matter of substantial public interest; standards that govern trial court's class certification decision, discussed; whether trial court should have inquired into merits of plaintiff's legal theory in determining whether prerequisites to class action set forth in applicable rules of practice (§§ 9-7 and 9-8) were satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that commonality, typicality, and adequacy of representation requirements for class certification had been satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that common issues of law and fact predominated and that class action was superior to other methods of adjudication; claim that trial court improperly defined class. Solon v. Slater (Order) State v. Best. Murder; attempt to commit murder; assault first degree; claim that trial court abused its discretion in admitting into evidence certain photographs depicting bloody interior of car used by victims to flee shooting; whether photographs were relevant to crimes with which defendant was charged; whether probative value of photographs outweighed their prejudicial effect. State v. Ciacrella (Order) State v. Cody M. Violation of standing criminal protective order; threatening se certain exclusions in insurance policy relieved defendant of its duty to defend. Ortiz v. Torres-Rodriguez (Order). Property Tax Management, LLC v. Worldwide Properties, LLC (Order). Redding v. Georgetown Land Development Co., LLC. Strict foreclosure; summary judgment; whether trial court correctly concluded that, under 2007 public act (P.A. 07-196, § 4 (b) (3)), liens that defendant company had acquired from special taxing district were subordinate to those of plaintiff town and fire district. Rice v. Commissioner of Correction (Order) Robinson v. Commissioner of Correction (Order) Rodriguez v. Kaiaffa, LLC. Class action; motion for class certification; interlocutory appeal pursuant to statute (§ 52-265a) involving matter of substantial public interest; standards that govern trial court's class certification decision, discussed; whether trial court should have inquired into merits of plaintiff's legal theory in determining whether prerequisites to class action set forth in applicable rules of practice (§ 9-7 and 9-8) were satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that commonality, typicality, and adequacy of representation requirements for class certification had been satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that common issues of law and fact predominated and that class action was superior to other methods of adjudication; claim that trial court improperly defined class. Solon v. Slater (Order) State v. Best. Murder; attempt to commit murder; assault first degree; claim that trial court abused its discretion in admitting into evidence certain photographs depicting bloody interior of car used by victims to flee shooting; whether photographs were relevant to crimes with which defendant was charged; whether probative value of photographs outweighed their prejudicial effect. State v. Cicarella (Order). State v. Cicarella (Order). State v. Chester J. (Order) State v. Chester J. (Order)
Ortiz v. Torres-Rodriguez (Order) Property Tax Management, LLC v. Worldwide Properties, LLC (Order) Redding v. Georgetown Land Development Co., LLC. Strict foreclosure; summary judgment; whether trial court correctly concluded that, under 2007 public act (P.A. 07-196, § 4 (b) (3)), liens that defendant company had acquired from special taxing district were subordinate to those of plaintiff town and fire district. Rice v. Commissioner of Correction (Order) Robinson v. Commissioner of Correction (Order) Rodriguez v. Kaiaffa, LLC. Class action; motion for class certification; interlocutory appeal pursuant to statute (§ 52-265a) involving matter of substantial public interest; standards that govern trial court's class certification decision, discussed; whether trial court should have inquired into merits of plaintiff's legal theory in determining whether prerequisites to class action set forth in applicable rules of practice (§§ 9-7 and 9-8) were satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that commonality, typicality, and adequacy of representation requirements for class certification had been satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that common issues of law and fact predominated and that class action was superior to other methods of adjudication; claim that trial court improperly defined class. Solon v. Slater (Order) State v. Best Murder, attempt to commit murder, assault first degree; claim that trial court abused its discretion in admitting into evidence certain photographs depicting bloody interior of car used by victims to flee shooting; whether photographs were relevant to crimes with which defendant was charged; whether probative value of photographs outweighed their prejudicial effect. State v. Cicarella (Order). State v. Chester J. (Order) State v. Chester J. (Order)
Property Tax Management, LLC v. Worldwide Properties, LLC (Order). Redding v. Georgetown Land Development Co., LLC. Strict foreclosure; summary judgment; whether trial court correctly concluded that, under 2007 public act (P.A. 07-196, § 4 (b) (3)), liens that defendant company had acquired from special taxing district were subordinate to those of plaintiff town and fire district. Rice v. Commissioner of Correction (Order) Robinson v. Commissioner of Correction (Order) Rodriguez v. Kaiaffa, LLC. Class action; motion for class certification; interlocutory appeal pursuant to statute (§ 52-265a) involving matter of substantial public interest; standards that govern trial court's class certification decision, discussed; whether trial court should have inquired into merits of plaintiffs legal theory in determining whether prerequisites to class action set forth in applicable rules of practice (§§ 9-7 and 9-8) were satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that commonality, typicality, and adequacy of representation requirements for class certification had been satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that common issues of law and fact predominated and that class action was superior to other methods of adjudication; claim that trial court improperly defined class. Solon v. Slater (Order) State v. Best Murder; attempt to commit murder; assault first degree; claim that trial court abused its discretion in admitting into evidence certain photographs depicting bloody interior of car used by victims to flee shooting; whether probative value of photographs outweighed their prejudicial effect. State v. Chester J. (Order)		910
Redding v. Georgetown Land Development Co., LLC. Strict foreclosure; summary judgment; whether trial court correctly concluded that, under 2007 public act (P.A. 07-196, § 4 (b) (3)), liens that defendant company had acquired from special taxing district were subordinate to those of plaintiff town and fire district. Rice v. Commissioner of Correction (Order) Robinson v. Commissioner of Correction (Order) Robinson v. Kaiaffa, LLC. Class action; motion for class certification; interlocutory appeal pursuant to statute (§ 52-265a) involving matter of substantial public interest; standards that govern trial court's class certification decision, discussed; whether trial court should have inquired into merits of plaintiffs legal theory in determining whether prerequisites to class action set forth in applicable rules of practice (§§ 9-7 and 9-8) were satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that commonality, typicality, and adequacy of representation requirements for class certification had been satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that common issues of law and fact predominated and that class action was superior to other methods of adjudication; claim that trial court improperly defined class. Solon v. Slater (Order) State v. Best Murder; attempt to commit murder; assault first degree; claim that trial court abused its discretion in admitting into evidence certain photographs were relevant to crimes with which defendant was charged; whether probative value of photographs outweighed their prejudicial effect. State v. Cicarella (Order). State v. Chester J. (Order) State v. Chester J. (Order) State v. Chester J. (Order) State v. Cody M. Violation of standing criminal protective order; threatening second degree; double jeopardy; certification from Appellate Court; claim that defendant's conviction of two counts of violating standing criminal protective order violated constitutional prohibition against double jeopardy, whether legislature intended to pun		903
Strict foreclosure; summary judgment; whether trial court correctly concluded that, under 2007 public act (P.A. 07-196, § 4 (b) (3)), liens that defendant company had acquired from special taxing district were subordinate to those of plaintiff town and fire district. Rice v. Commissioner of Correction (Order) Robinson v. Commissioner of Correction (Order) Rodriguez v. Kaiaffa, LLC. Class action; motion for class certification; interlocutory appeal pursuant to statute (§ 52-265a) involving matter of substantial public interest; standards that govern trial court's class certification decision, discussed; whether trial court should have inquired into merits of plaintiff's legal theory in determining whether prerequisites to class action set forth in applicable rules of practice (§§ 9-7 and 9-8) were satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that commonality, typicality, and adequacy of representation requirements for class certification had been satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that common issues of law and fact predominated and that class action was superior to other methods of adjudication; claim that trial court improperly defined class. Solon v. Slater (Order) State v. Best Murder; attempt to commit murder; assault first degree; claim that trial court abused its discretion in admitting into evidence certain photographs depicting bloody interior of car used by victims to flee shooting; whether probative value of photographs outweighed their prejudicial effect. State v. Cicarella (Order). State v. Cicarella (Order). State v. Chester J. (Order)		75 under 2007 public act (P.A. 07-196, § 4 (b) (3)), liens that defendant company had acquired from special taxing district were subordinate to those of plaintiff town and fire district. Rice v. Commissioner of Correction (Order) Robinson v. Commissioner of Correction (Order) Rodriguez v. Kaiaffa, LLC. Class action; motion for class certification; interlocutory appeal pursuant to statute (§ 52-265a) involving matter of substantial public interest; standards that govern trial court's class certification decision, discussed; whether trial court should have inquired into merits of plaintiff's legal theory in determining whether prerequisites to class action set forth in applicable rules of practice (§ 8 9-7 and 9-8) were satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that commonality, typicality, and adequacy of representation requirements for class certification had been satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that common issues of law and fact predominated and that class action was superior to other methods of adjudication; claim that trial court improperly defined class. Solon v. Slater (Order) State v. Best Murder; attempt to commit murder; assault first degree; claim that trial court abused its discretion in admitting into evidence certain photographs depicting bloody interior of car used by victims to flee shooting; whether photographs were relevant to crimes with which defendant was charged; whether probative value of photographs outweighed their prejudicial effect. State v. Cicarella (Order) State v. Cicarella (Order) State v. Cody M. Violation of standing criminal protective order; threatening second degree; double jeopardy; certification from Appellate Court; claim that defendant's conviction of two counts of violating standing criminal protective order violated constitutional prohibition against double jeopardy; whether legislature intended to punish indi-had acquired from special taxing district were subordinate to those of plaintiff town and fire district. Rice v. Commissioner of Correction (Order) Robinson v. Commissioner of Correction (Order) Rodriguez v. Kaiaffa, LLC. Class action; motion for class certification; interlocutory appeal pursuant to statute (§ 52-265a) involving matter of substantial public interest; standards that govern trial court's class certification decision, discussed; whether trial court should have inquired into merits of plaintiffs legal theory in determining whether prerequisites to class action set forth in applicable rules of practice (§§ 9-7 and 9-8) were satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that commonality, typicality, and adequacy of representation requirements for class certification had been satisfied, whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that common issues of law and fact predominated and that class action was superior to other methods of adjudication; claim that trial court improperly defined class. Solon v. Slater (Order) State v. Best Murder; attempt to commit murder; assault first degree; claim that trial court abused its discretion in admitting into evidence certain photographs depicting bloody interior of car used by victims to flee shooting; whether photographs were relevant to crimes with which defendant was charged; whether probative value of photographs outweighed their prejudicial effect. State v. Cicarella (Order) State v. Chester J. (Order) State v. Cody M. Violation of standing criminal protective order; threatening second degree; double jeopardy; certification from Appellate Court; claim that defendant's conviction of two counts of violating standing criminal protective order violated constitutional prohibition against double jeopardy; whether legislature intended to punish indi-	under 2007 public act (P.A. 07-196, § 4 (b) (3)), liens that defendant company
Rice v. Commissioner of Correction (Order) Rodriguez v. Kaiaffa, LLC. Class action; motion for class certification; interlocutory appeal pursuant to statute (§ 52-265a) involving matter of substantial public interest; standards that govern trial court's class certification decision, discussed; whether trial court should have inquired into merits of plaintiff's legal theory in determining whether prerequisites to class action set forth in applicable rules of practice (§§ 9-7 and 9-8) were satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that commonality, typicality, and adequacy of representation requirements for class certification had been satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that common issues of law and fact predominated and that class action was superior to other methods of adjudication; claim that trial court improperly defined class. Solon v. Slater (Order) State v. Best. Murder; attempt to commit murder; assault first degree; claim that trial court abused its discretion in admitting into evidence certain photographs depicting bloody interior of car used by victims to flee shooting; whether photographs were relevant to crimes with which defendant was charged; whether probative value of photographs outweighed their prejudicial effect. State v. Chester J. (Order) State v. Cody M. Violation of standing criminal protective order; threatening second degree; double jeopardy; certification from Appellate Court; claim that defendant's conviction of two counts of violating standing criminal protective order violated constitutional prohibition against double jeopardy; whether legislature intended to punish indi-
Robinson v. Commissioner of Correction (Order) Rodriguez v. Kaiaffa, LLC. Class action; motion for class certification; interlocutory appeal pursuant to statute (§ 52-265a) involving matter of substantial public interest; standards that govern trial court's class certification decision, discussed; whether trial court should have inquired into merits of plaintiff's legal theory in determining whether prerequisites to class action set forth in applicable rules of practice (§§ 9-7 and 9-8) were satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that commonality, typicality, and adequacy of representation requirements for class certification had been satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that common issues of law and fact predominated and that class action was superior to other methods of adjudication; claim that trial court improperly defined class. Solon v. Slater (Order) State v. Best Murder; attempt to commit murder; assault first degree; claim that trial court abused its discretion in admitting into evidence certain photographs depicting bloody interior of car used by victims to flee shooting; whether photographs were relevant to crimes with which defendant was charged; whether probative value of photographs outweighed their prejudicial effect. State v. Cicarella (Order) State v. Chester J. (Order) State v. Cody M. Violation of standing criminal protective order; threatening second degree; double jeopardy; certification from Appellate Court; claim that defendant's conviction of two counts of violating standing criminal protective order violated constitutional prohibition against double jeopardy; whether legislature intended to punish indi-	town and fire district.
Rodriguez v. Kaiaffa, LLC. Class action; motion for class certification; interlocutory appeal pursuant to statute (§ 52-265a) involving matter of substantial public interest; standards that govern trial court's class certification decision, discussed; whether trial court should have inquired into merits of plaintiff's legal theory in determining whether prerequisites to class action set forth in applicable rules of practice (§§ 9-7 and 9-8) were satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that commonality, typicality, and adequacy of representation requirements for class certification had been satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that common issues of law and fact predominated and that class action was superior to other methods of adjudication; claim that trial court improperly defined class. Solon v. Slater (Order) State v. Best Murder; attempt to commit murder; assault first degree; claim that trial court abused its discretion in admitting into evidence certain photographs depicting bloody interior of car used by victims to flee shooting; whether photographs were relevant to crimes with which defendant was charged; whether probative value of photographs outweighed their prejudicial effect. State v. Cicarella (Order) State v. Cody M. Violation of standing criminal protective order; threatening second degree; double jeopardy; certification from Appellate Court; claim that defendant's conviction of two counts of violating standing criminal protective order violated constitutional prohibition against double jeopardy; whether legislature intended to punish indi-	ice v. Commissioner of Correction (Order)	906
Class action; motion for class certification; interlocutory appeal pursuant to statute (§ 52-265a) involving matter of substantial public interest; standards that govern trial court's class certification decision, discussed; whether trial court should have inquired into merits of plaintiff's legal theory in determining whether prerequisites to class action set forth in applicable rules of practice (§§ 9-7 and 9-8) were satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that commonality, typicality, and adequacy of representation requirements for class certification had been satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that common issues of law and fact predominated and that class action was superior to other methods of adjudication; claim that trial court improperly defined class. Solon v. Slater (Order) State v. Best Murder; attempt to commit murder; assault first degree; claim that trial court abused its discretion in admitting into evidence certain photographs depicting bloody interior of car used by victims to flee shooting; whether photographs were relevant to crimes with which defendant was charged; whether probative value of photographs outweighed their prejudicial effect. State v. Cicarella (Order) State v. Chester J. (Order) State v. Cody M. Violation of standing criminal protective order; threatening second degree; double jeopardy; certification from Appellate Court; claim that defendant's conviction of two counts of violating standing criminal protective order violated constitutional prohibition against double jeopardy; whether legislature intended to punish indi-	obinson v . Commissioner of Correction (Order)	903
(§ 52-265a) involving matter of substantial public interest; standards that govern trial court's class certification decision, discussed; whether trial court should have inquired into merits of plaintiff's legal theory in determining whether prerequisites to class action set forth in applicable rules of practice (§§ 9-7 and 9-8) were satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that commonality, typicality, and adequacy of representation requirements for class certification had been satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that common issues of law and fact predominated and that class action was superior to other methods of adjudication; claim that trial court improperly defined class. Solon v. Slater (Order) State v. Best Murder; attempt to commit murder; assault first degree; claim that trial court abused its discretion in admitting into evidence certain photographs depicting bloody interior of car used by victims to flee shooting; whether photographs were relevant to crimes with which defendant was charged; whether probative value of photographs outweighed their prejudicial effect. State v. Cicarella (Order) State v. Cody M. Violation of standing criminal protective order; threatening second degree; double jeopardy; certification from Appellate Court; claim that defendant's conviction of two counts of violating standing criminal protective order violated constitutional prohibition against double jeopardy; whether legislature intended to punish indi-		248 trial court's class certification decision, discussed; whether trial court should have inquired into merits of plaintiff's legal theory in determining whether prerequisites to class action set forth in applicable rules of practice (§§ 9-7 and 9-8) were satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that commonality, typicality, and adequacy of representation requirements for class certification had been satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that common issues of law and fact predominated and that class action was superior to other methods of adjudication; claim that trial court improperly defined class. Solon v. Slater (Order) State v. Best Murder; attempt to commit murder; assault first degree; claim that trial court abused its discretion in admitting into evidence certain photographs depicting bloody interior of car used by victims to flee shooting; whether photographs were relevant to crimes with which defendant was charged; whether probative value of photographs outweighed their prejudicial effect. State v. Cicarella (Order) State v. Cody M. Violation of standing criminal protective order; threatening second degree; double jeopardy; certification from Appellate Court; claim that defendant's conviction of two counts of violating standing criminal protective order violated constitutional prohibition against double jeopardy; whether legislature intended to punish indi-have inquired into merits of plaintiff's legal theory in determining whether prerequisites to class action set forth in applicable rules of practice (§§ 9-7 and 9-8) were satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that commonality, typicality, and adequacy of representation requirements for class certification had been satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that common issues of law and fact predominated and that class action was superior to other methods of adjudication; claim that trial court improperly defined class. Solon v. Slater (Order) prerequisites to class action set forth in applicable rules of practice (§§ 9-7 and 9-8) were satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that commonality, typicality, and adequacy of representation requirements for class certification had been satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that common issues of law and fact predominated and that class action was superior to other methods of adjudication; claim that trial court improperly defined class. Solon v. Slater (Order) State v. Best Murder, attempt to commit murder, assault first degree; claim that trial court abused its discretion in admitting into evidence certain photographs depicting bloody interior of car used by victims to flee shooting; whether photographs were relevant to crimes with which defendant was charged; whether probative value of photographs outweighed their prejudicial effect. State v. Cicarella (Order) State v. Cody M. Violation of standing criminal protective order; threatening second degree; double jeopardy; certification from Appellate Court; claim that defendant's conviction of two counts of violating standing criminal protective order violated constitutional prohibition against double jeopardy; whether legislature intended to punish indi-9-8) were satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that commonality, typicality, and adequacy of representation requirements for class certification had been satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that common issues of law and fact predominated and that class action was superior to other methods of adjudication; claim that trial court improperly defined class. Solon v. Slater (Order) commonality, typicality, and adequacy of representation requirements for class certification had been satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that common issues of law and fact predominated and that class action was superior to other methods of adjudication; claim that trial court improperly defined class. Solon v. Slater (Order) State v. Best Murder; attempt to commit murder; assault first degree; claim that trial court abused its discretion in admitting into evidence certain photographs depicting bloody interior of car used by victims to flee shooting; whether photographs were relevant to crimes with which defendant was charged; whether probative value of photographs outweighed their prejudicial effect. State v. Cicarella (Order) State v. Cody M. Violation of standing criminal protective order; threatening second degree; double jeopardy; certification from Appellate Court; claim that defendant's conviction of two counts of violating standing criminal protective order violated constitutional prohibition against double jeopardy; whether legislature intended to punish indi-certification had been satisfied; whether trial court abused its discretion in concluding that common issues of law and fact predominated and that class action was superior to other methods of adjudication; claim that trial court improperly defined class. Solon v. Slater (Order) State v. Best Murder; attempt to commit murder; assault first degree; claim that trial court abused its discretion in admitting into evidence certain photographs depicting bloody interior of car used by victims to flee shooting; whether photographs were relevant to crimes with which defendant was charged; whether probative value of photographs outweighed their prejudicial effect. State v. Cicarella (Order) State v. Cody M. Violation of standing criminal protective order; threatening second degree; double jeopardy; certification from Appellate Court; claim that defendant's conviction of two counts of violating standing criminal protective order violated constitutional prohibition against double jeopardy; whether legislature intended to punish indi-concluding that common issues of law and fact predominated and that class action was superior to other methods of adjudication; claim that trial court improperly defined class. Solon v. Slater (Order) action was superior to other methods of adjudication; claim that trial court improperly defined class. Solon v. Slater (Order) State v. Best Murder; attempt to commit murder; assault first degree; claim that trial court abused its discretion in admitting into evidence certain photographs depicting bloody interior of car used by victims to flee shooting; whether photographs were relevant to crimes with which defendant was charged; whether probative value of photographs outweighed their prejudicial effect. State v. Cicarella (Order). State v. Cody M. Violation of standing criminal protective order; threatening second degree; double jeopardy; certification from Appellate Court; claim that defendant's conviction of two counts of violating standing criminal protective order violated constitutional prohibition against double jeopardy; whether legislature intended to punish indi-improperly defined class. Solon v. Slater (Order)
Solon v. Slater (Order) State v. Best Murder; attempt to commit murder; assault first degree; claim that trial court abused its discretion in admitting into evidence certain photographs depicting bloody interior of car used by victims to flee shooting; whether photographs were relevant to crimes with which defendant was charged; whether probative value of photographs outweighed their prejudicial effect. State v. Cicarella (Order). State v. Cody M. Violation of standing criminal protective order; threatening second degree; double jeopardy; certification from Appellate Court; claim that defendant's conviction of two counts of violating standing criminal protective order violated constitutional prohibition against double jeopardy; whether legislature intended to punish indi-	1 ,
State v. Best	1 1 0 0	908
Murder; attempt to commit murder; assault first degree; claim that trial court abused its discretion in admitting into evidence certain photographs depicting bloody interior of car used by victims to flee shooting; whether photographs were relevant to crimes with which defendant was charged; whether probative value of photographs outweighed their prejudicial effect. State v. Cicarella (Order)		312
its discretion in admitting into evidence certain photographs depicting bloody interior of car used by victims to flee shooting; whether photographs were relevant to crimes with which defendant was charged; whether probative value of photographs outweighed their prejudicial effect. State v. Cicarella (Order). State v. Cody M. Violation of standing criminal protective order; threatening second degree; double jeopardy; certification from Appellate Court; claim that defendant's conviction of two counts of violating standing criminal protective order violated constitutional prohibition against double jeopardy; whether legislature intended to punish indi-	Murder: attempt to commit murder: assault first degree: claim that trial court abused	312 interior of car used by victims to flee shooting; whether photographs were relevant to crimes with which defendant was charged; whether probative value of photographs outweighed their prejudicial effect. State v. Cicarella (Order). State v. Cody M. Violation of standing criminal protective order; threatening second degree; double jeopardy; certification from Appellate Court; claim that defendant's conviction of two counts of violating standing criminal protective order violated constitutional prohibition against double jeopardy; whether legislature intended to punish indi-to crimes with which defendant was charged; whether probative value of photographs outweighed their prejudicial effect. State v. Cicarella (Order). State v. Cody M. Violation of standing criminal protective order; threatening second degree; double jeopardy; certification from Appellate Court; claim that defendant's conviction of two counts of violating standing criminal protective order violated constitutional prohibition against double jeopardy; whether legislature intended to punish indi-graphs outweighed their prejudicial effect. State v. Cicarella (Order). State v. Chester J. (Order) State v. Cody M. Violation of standing criminal protective order; threatening second degree; double jeopardy; certification from Appellate Court; claim that defendant's conviction of two counts of violating standing criminal protective order violated constitutional prohibition against double jeopardy; whether legislature intended to punish indi-
State v. Cicarella (Order). State v. Chester J. (Order). State v. Cody M. Violation of standing criminal protective order; threatening second degree; double jeopardy; certification from Appellate Court; claim that defendant's conviction of two counts of violating standing criminal protective order violated constitutional prohibition against double jeopardy; whether legislature intended to punish indi-
State v. Chester J. (Order)		902
State v. Cody M		910
Violation of standing criminal protective order; threatening second degree; double jeopardy; certification from Appellate Court; claim that defendant's conviction of two counts of violating standing criminal protective order violated constitutional prohibition against double jeopardy; whether legislature intended to punish indi-		92
jeopardy; certification from Appellate Court; claim that defendant's conviction of two counts of violating standing criminal protective order violated constitutional prohibition against double jeopardy; whether legislature intended to punish indi-prohibition against double jeopardy; whether legislature intended to punish individual acts separately or to punish course of action that they constitute under vidual acts separately or to punish course of action that they constitute under violation of standing criminal protective order statute (§ 53a-223a); whether Appellate Court improperly upheld trial court's jury instruction on charge of criminal violation of standing criminal protective order.

State v. Coleman (Order)	907
State v. Foster (Order)	904
State v. Luciano (Order)	903
State v. Marsala	55
Criminal trespass first degree; defendant's request that jury be instructed on infrac-	00 tion of simple trespass as lesser included offense; whether Appellate Court correctly concluded that trial court properly declined to instruct jury on simple trespass as lesser included offense; whether prerequisites set forth in State v. Whistnant (179 Conn. 576) for obtaining jury instruction on lesser included offense were satisfied.
State v. Rodriguez	175
Sexual assault first degree; criminal attempt to commit sexual assault first degree; unpreserved claim that trial court violated defendant's right to confrontation by allowing forensic science examiner to testify about results of DNA identification analysis without requiring testimony from individual who generated DNA profiles; unpreserved claim that defendant's due process right was violated by introduction of DNA identification evidence that was unreliable; claim that evidence of random match probability of 1 in 230,000 in Hispanic population, by itself, was insufficient to establish that defendant was guilty of crimes charged beyond reasonable doubt.
Turner v. Commissioner of Correction (Order)	909
Wells Fargo Bank, N.A. v. Robertson (Order)	905
	200